

Contract Courses

The enrollment process for Contract Courses (independent studies with the guidance of a faculty mentor) begins on MyUCLA when students generate a "contract" for a course in their chosen subject area and field of interest.

Directed Research - 199

Spring 2024

You must complete the following steps before you can create a contract for this course:

- 1) Find a faculty mentor to supervise your research/senior project.
- 3) Prepare a short description of your research project, the nature of the faculty supervision you will receive and the tangible evidence you will provide as proof of your work. Please include a brief description of how you will proceed in the research phase and in your approach to the final project.
- 4) For HSEAS students only: before creating your contract, you must consult with your faculty mentor to determine the distribution of design/lab units for this course.

Use a word-processing program such as Microsoft Word to prepare and save your work so that you may copy and paste it into your contract when prompted.

If you've completed these steps and are ready to begin creating your contract, click "continue."

If you haven't yet completed these steps, you may print a copy of the preparation instructions for this contract by clicking "print steps." You may return to MyUCLA via the "back to MyUCLA" link at the top of this page.
